Dear Lorraine:

As I reflect on my retirement, I want to thank you for all the support you gave me while we worked together on various issues that came before Viking Town Council.

Over the past 5 years that I have come to know you, you have rendered faithful, conscientious and valuable service to the citizens of Viking as the Editor of The Weekly Review. You have gained the respect of all those who have come in contact with you, and are a great asset to the world of journalism.

Your abilities as a reporter, an editor and an editorial writer are well documented, and you are a relentless crusader for what you believe right. For a person of your vigour and devotion, I know that you take pride in producing a professional publication, and you have the satisfaction of knowing that everything you undertake is ably and conscientiously performed.

Leadership that develops a strong vision, core values, commitment to employees and customers and public responsibility are the hallmarks of a successful business. These attributes define The Weekly Review as a successful business under your leadership.

It is my sincere wish that you will continue to serve the public and leave that indelible mark on Canadian journalism and in the life of The Weekly Review for the citizens of Viking and District.

Sincerely

Rod Krips, CAO
